John Kuzmich, Jr. Ph.D. is a veteran music educator, jazz educator and music technologist who has taught on five continents, won five Gold Medals as a band director at the World Music Contest in Kerkrade, Netherlands, and shared his music talents as an accomplished conductor, performer, clinician, author, technologist and educator; all of which make his creative music studio an exciting and fulfilling place to learn and make music

Magical Formula for Studio Teaching!

There are many creative ingredients that enrich your child's musical development and readily available in my studio:

- Match the student to cutting-edge learning methods and strategies based on being a national music journal reviewer since 1973 with 800+ featured articles published.
- Music technology is incorporated in every lesson in the studio and coordinated for home practice.
- Preparation for all-county honor middle and high school band auditions as well as Colorado All-State Band & Jazz Ensemble auditions
- Contemporary music with Jazz/rock/pop components
- Classical solos with piano or CD accompanied for school district solo & ensemble festivals.
- Music & Arts monthly recitals on the third Friday evening each month.
- 50+ years of successful studio teaching experience.

Specialty strategies tailored for your child from my experience as a jazz educator and music technologist which works well for both home and studio lessons.
