New! Priority State

Wondering what to work on? The project page now highlights the top priority state for Family Review to help get that state across the finish line. Idaho is the first featured state.

Thanks again for your participation. It's amazing what we can accomplish together! At the project page, you have an option of three things you can participate in the 1950 Census:

- Review Names: Verify the spelling of people's names in the 1950 census
- Review Document Header: Verify the details found at the top of the 1950 census form.
- Review Families: Where We'll show you names that need to be grouped by household. Next, you'll verify the details listed for each person.

This block contains three interactive cards for the 1950 Census review project. The top card is titled 'Review Families' and includes an illustration of a family looking at a document. Below the title is a description: 'We'll show you names that need to be grouped by household. Next, you'll verify the details listed for each person.' and a yellow 'GET STARTED' button. The bottom-left card is titled 'Review Document Header' and includes an illustration of a person at a desk. Below the title is a description: 'Verify the details found at the top of the 1950 census form.' and a yellow 'GET STARTED' button. The bottom-right card is titled 'Review Names' and includes an illustration of a hand writing on a document. Below the title is a description: 'Verify the spelling of people's names in the 1950 census.' and a yellow 'GET STARTED' button.

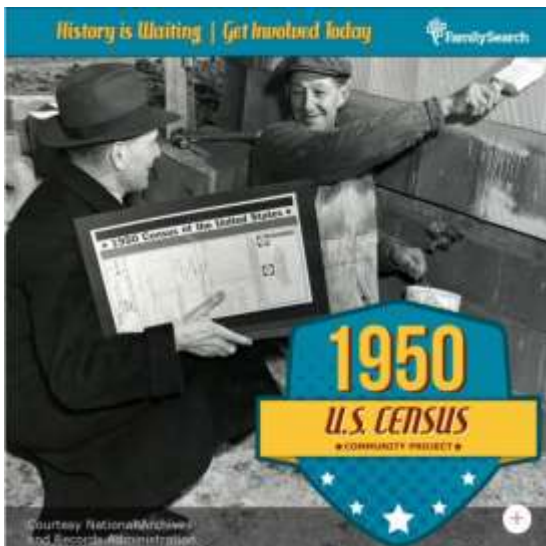

I suggest that you attend your nearest Family History Center for instructions of how to do parts 2 and 3 cited above to participate fully. Unsure where the nearest FHC is to you, there are over 5,100 centers world-wide in 145 countries that can be found at <https://www.familysearch.org/fhcenters/locations/>. Their staff is well-trained and ready to assist and free to the general public regardless of your religious affiliation.
