Closing Comments

At the very beginning of my genealogical discoveries, I found it very helpful to visit cemeteries in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Illinois to visit their record offices for a number of reasons. First, I got to cemeteries where many of my ancestors were buried. Secondly, walking through the cemetery helps bring the “Spirit of Elijah” to whenever you see headstones with common surnames. Third, it is great paying respect to our ancestors by visiting their graves especially when your children are with you. And lastly, their offices can offer you a lot of additional resources including the funeral home used which can also open up even more resources including newspaper obituaries in local newspapers!
