

Finding Elusive Records: a challenge to learn from but more possible with VIP Tips at <http://www.kuzmich4.com/Facebook/Finding%20Elusive%20Records.pdf>

Some records are fairly easy to locate, such as census records or parish records. Others are harder to find but may contain valuable information about your ancestors. A series of RootsTech articles has some useful tips for locating these records on FamilySearch: check out Finding Elusive Records in FamilySearch, Part 1 at <https://www.rootstech.org/blog/finding-elusive-records-in-familysearch-part-1>, Part 2 at <https://www.rootstech.org/blog/finding-elusive-records-in-familysearch-part-2>, and Part 3 at <https://www.rootstech.org/blog/finding-elusive-records-at-familysearch-part-3>. To learn more about finding the records you need, see Goal A1 at <https://www.thefhguide.com/project-9-united-states.html#a> in the United States page. (See all tips at <https://www.thefhguide.com/tip-of-the-day.html>.)

Closing Comments

Success can clearly eliminate your frustrations you may have endured over time. Have faith and with your continued efforts, success can be achieved. Sometimes, you may need to network with others to achieve success. Going to your nearest family history center or making an appointment with a one-on-one representative at the Salt Lake City Library other option via a Zoom Conference call. Don't neglect social media for more networking. I have joined the following Facebook groups where individuals are available to guide you. Finding answers to your darkest challenges in family history is very rewarding in the end. And there's always someone who can provide suggestions of where to search next. Below is a list of all the Facebook groups available for my needs which are either regional or ethnic in nature. It is amazing to have some many experts so readily available who have more knowledge and expertise in locating my elusive records. Don't hesitate of login and challenge the Facebook group for assistance and you will not be disappointed if your are specific in your request.

E L U S I V E