Closing Comments: My International Successes!

Internationally, finding out the houses of your ancestors can also be important. In my case, I wrote to the Registrar of Novo Mesto, Slovenia during the Cold War with the Soviet Union in 1980 and 1981. I wrote the very same letter three times. To my pleasant surprise over a year later, I received a response from the same registrar with a letter with the genealogy of my great-grandfather's house with multiple houses and generations listed. Below are the official letter from the registrar and the actual genealogy of my great-grandfather's house with information about surnames, birth, marriage and death dates plus relationships and comments. Subsequently, I did receive several additional letters for genealogy for other houses which helped boost my faith in doing genealogy beyond reality and my expectations which is "The Spirit of Elijah."
