

Seamless Connectivity Between This Facebook Group and Its Companion Web Postings With Additional Incentives!

I'm thoroughly enjoying my ward calling and how the ward's Facebook group is supporting this calling of Foothills Ward And Temple Family History Leader. To access the table of contents for the Facebook group, here is the universal way to do it without having a Facebook account. The URL, <https://tinyurl.com/yxuw7m2s>, allows one to view all the 80+ postings quickly and also view the entire postings full-screen and with full print capabilities. Which is actually better than viewing it in Facebook but a lot more work on my end. And there are daily instructional postings as well.

The Facebook presentations are the most graphical way to view the content but the web postings make the postings actually more usable. In the Facebook group, each article's title is linked directly to a companion web posting so you can peruse articles on Facebook and immediately click on the title in the posting and instantly, there's a seamless transition to view the post full screen with user-friendly printing options and save the article to your computer for future reference without having Internet access.

If anybody outside of the Foothills Ward desires to join this Facebook group, you are mostly certainly welcome to both join and contribute accordingly.

How's that for a universal user-friendly approach for promoting Temple and Family History.
